

CLAIMS

1. A main unit of a computer, comprising a frame case with two ends, being provided with an air inlet at one of the ends and a an air outlet at the other one of the 5 ends;

a cooling device, at least including a fan, a radiator and an air guide unit, the air guide unit being hollow with an end thereof connecting with the air inlet and another end thereof connecting with the fan, which is joined to the radiator.

10 2. The main unit of a computer as defined in claim 1, wherein the air guide unit is provided with a connection part to connect with the air inlet.

3. The main unit of a computer as defined in claim 1, wherein a forced fan is disposed between the air inlet and the air guide 15 unit and a discharge fan is disposed at the air outlet.

4. The main unit of a computer as defined in claim 1, wherein a filter net is disposed at the air inlet for blocking dust and foreign substance in the air entering the frame case so as to prevent the electronic components on the main board from being 20 stained and occur problem of short circuit.

5. The main unit of a computer as defined in claim 1, wherein the air guide unit is a flexible hose.

25

30